Our team were Senior Detectives and covert specialists, all with recognized commendations and awards for their investigative skills. They have received specialized training throughout their careers, much of which is not available outside the police community.

Our investigation skills have transferred seamlessly into the private sector, helping clients to resolve many issues such as theft, fraud and stock loss, staff integrity, bogus absence and various information requirements such as tracing ex-employees and debtors, pre sue reports, background checks and competitor intelligence.

It is this wealth of investigation and intelligence experience that brings a commercial advantage to Osiris's clients.

Our customer needs and expectations are very important to us and we are therefore committed to understanding individual problems and issues. From a 1:1 consultation, we will develop and deliver a bespoke investigation strategy, which will address your needs. We work in partnership with our customers.
